

ERS Bibliography Database Help File

Prepared by Robert D'Alessandro

This database is a compilation of publications directly related to the design and evaluation of Emergency Relief Systems (ERS).

The database includes entry cells for the following publication data: (1) Author (1st through 4th), (2) Title of publication, (3) Venue where publication appears (type & name), (4) Date of publication (year & month), (5) Volume where publication appears (if applicable), (6) Number where publication appears (if applicable), (7) Personal paper file location, (8) Personal electronic file location, and (9) Keywords associated with each publication (1 through 4).

General

The authors are listed in the order of appearance on the actual publication. Only the author's last name is included. A maximum of four authors is listed. If a publication was written by more than four authors, the 4th Author was entered as "et al".

The publication title is listed as it appears on the actual publication.

The venue section includes the type of publication and the name of the journal, magazine, or forum where the publication was presented. The word "article" is reserved for those publications that appear in journals or magazines. The word "paper" is reserved for those publications that were presented at a conference, symposium, or meeting and contain a full description of the subject matter. The word "presentation" is reserved for those publications that were presented at a conference, symposium, or meeting and contain an abbreviated description of the subject matter.

The filing index shown in the database can be changed to suit the specific needs of a particular individual.

The Keyword section of the database still requires a considerable amount of work.

Missing information is shown by "??".

Database Manipulation
